

2017 Moosilauke Ravine Lodge Crew Information Sheet

Moosilauke hospitality is a tradition dating back to 1920. Over the years Dartmouth folks have turned to the mountain for reunions, educational programs, and to enjoy the woods. The Ravine Lodge is the heart of this common ground for students, faculty, alumni, and friends of Dartmouth. Working at the Lodge means being part of the stewardship of this fine tradition.

The core of the Moosilauke work concept is a sharing of practically all duties, which include cooking, cleaning, hosting evening programs, handling reservations and bookkeeping, stewarding the mountain and trails, and doing significant facilities maintenance and carpentry. You can expect to come out of the season having learned a wide variety of skills; saved a chunk of money; gained a better sense of what a talented group of folks can do when they put their minds to it; met a number of fascinating professors, alumni, and students; and developed a bond with this special place that will last a lifetime. We are interested in folks with a broad range of interests, who love working with others and who have fun working hard, especially when the unexpected strikes. Remember, this is a hospitality job where you live in close quarters and work as a team, so a positive attitude, willingness to compromise, and people skills are necessary. If this sounds good to you...read on!

JOB DESCRIPTIONS

General Info

Work Schedule: 6 days on, 3 days off, 4 days on, 1 day off (4 days off every 2 weeks).
Pay: The rate of pay is $5.65/hour + overtime (for which you are paid time and a half). This is not including tips, which usually range from about $50 to $100 per person per week. The total for a season comes out to about $1500 for spring/fall and a bit more for summer. There is a $0.25/hour raise for every season of previous Lodge experience. Room and board are provided.

Duties and expectations are outlined in greater detail in the attached Crew Member Job Description packet. Please read all information in full before applying.

Prior experience in a similar setting, knowledge of the White Mountains, outdoor skills, wilderness first aid training (especially WFR and beyond), musical ability, carpentry skills, farming or gardening experience, naturalists, storytelling ability, and cooking experience are all desired but not required.

Fall Crew

Dates: September 4 - November 18, 2017*

Description: The fall season begins just after DOC Trips, and is typically characterized by busy weekends and big group reservations, and quieter weekdays in which crew is encouraged to host events of their own interest. The season ends (before Thanksgiving) with a week of tasks after we've closed to the public to prepare the Lodge for winter.

*Dates are subject to slight alteration when the calendar is finalized.

Assistant Manager

The Assistant Manager works closely with the Manager to oversee food service, food and supplies ordering, hospitality, projects, and the crew in general.

Duties and expectations are outlined in greater detail in the attached Crew Member Job Description AND the Assistant Manager Job Description packets. Please read all information in full before applying.

Dates: Same as regular crews. For equally qualified candidates, preference will be given to someone able to stay all three or multiple seasons.

Pay: $6.15/hour + overtime (for which you are paid time and a half). This is not including tips, which usually range from about $50 to $100 per person per week.

There is a $0.25/hour raise for every season of previous Lodge experience. Room and board are provided.

Requirements: Candidates with at least one previous season working at the Lodge will be given preference. Other food service or hospitality experience is also desirable. Candidates must be detail-oriented.

Please note that if we think you are suitable for this position, we may consider you even if you have not marked interest on your application. It will then be up to you to accept or decline, but don't be surprised if we ask.

TO APPLY

Send a cover letter and resume to moosilaukelodge@gmail.com with subject line "Lodge Crew Application." Feel free to email with questions.

Thank you for your interest! Please keep this information sheet for reference.

Best,
Dan Nelson, Director of Outdoor Programs
Chachi Riesco '17, 2017-2018 Lodge Manager